UPRISINGS IN CHINA MOVE FOR REPUBLIC

Rebels, V. Provincial Assembly of Hu Peh
Secedes From Imperial Edict
Orders Dispatch Two Divisions of Army to Disaffected Section

HANKOW, Oct. 12.—The revolution that has been hanging over China for months and of which the rising in the province of Szechuan was only a small part has begun in earnest. It is a concerted movement to take the empire and declare a republic.

If plans do not miscarry, the noted exiled revolutionist, Dr. Sun Yat Sen, leader of the anti-Manchu party, is to be elected president. He was the delegate of the revolutionary party to the United States in 1910 and is believed during that tour to have made arrangements for financing the movement.

Sun Yu, a brother of Dr. Sun Yat, who is now in Hankow, has been elected president of the provincial assembly and Yang Hun Lung, the retiring president of the association has been elected from Hu Peh.

The whole assembly has seceded from the imperial government. The rebels are well organized and financially strong. They have confiscated the local treasuries.

The revolutionaries have captured Wuchang, the native section of Hankow and Hanyang, all adjoining cities in Hu Peh province. Chengsha, capital of Hu Nan, is reported to have risen in revolt, and Nanking, capital of the province of Kiangsu, is on the verge of a rising, several public buildings having been destroyed.

Soldiers Join Mutiny.
Thousands of soldiers have joined the mutiny in Hu Peh. Many Manchus have been killed, and the terrified people are fleeing from the cities into the country, carrying their belongings.

The prisons have been opened and criminals have been liberated. There has been fighting in the streets, but the most stringent orders have been issued that the lives of foreigners and their property shall be respected.

An American expedition dispatched from Hankow to Wuchang to aid the missionaries there returned here with all the missionaries, except Miss R. A. Kemp, of the Episcopal society. Members of the Roman Catholic missions, including the sisters, and the London mission, who declined to depart.

There was a brief exchange of shots between the Wuchang force and a local Chinese cruiser. The firing ceased after British and French officials protested that it endangered the foreign possessions.

Chinese Government Awakened.
PEKING, Oct. 12.—The Chinese government has awakened to the danger of the revolution in Hu Peh province. General Yen Tehang, the minister of war, departed hurriedly today for Peking. The 100 miles south of Peking, where the sixth division of the army is making hasty preparations to depart tomorrow for Hankow.

An imperial edict today ordered the immediate dispatch of two divisions to the disaffected provinces. About 20,000 are Manchus. It is against the Manchus that the revolutionists have risen.

Orders have been issued for the assembling of a fleet of warships in the Yang-tee-Kiang river to unite with the land forces against the rebels. According to official report at least 10,000, probably 15,000, troops have multiplied in the province of Hu Peh alone. It is reported they captured 30 modern guns at Wuchang. There is an uncon-

STRAIN BEGINS TO AFFECT TAI'S VOICE

ASHLAND, Ore., Oct. 12.—His voice a bit husky from constant use, but strong, President Taft "spoke" his way down the Willamette valley and across the state of Oregon today. For hour after hour his train traveled a land that blossomed in flowers and fruit and the folk who came to the little towns where his train paused for a minute or two brought tributes of all sorts to the chief executive.

At night, with the California line a few miles away, the presidential train passed through Ashland. The president's car resembled the interior of a florist and green grocer's shop and the steward has accumulated enough fruit to furnish the president's table for days to come.

He spoke on peace and arbitration and a half dozen other topics. The strain told a little on his voice, but it is indications are that by the time San Francisco is reached tomorrow, the president will be speaking again with his full power.

The apparent prosperity of the country through which he traveled led the president to make a new plea for the arbitration treaty.

Battle Ship Oregon Plans.
SAFORD, Ore., Oct. 12.—President Taft, amid great applause, promised the people of the Oregon capital today that the battleship Oregon would be the first vessel to pass through the Panama canal if he had the power, the time to arrange it. He made the principal speech of his stay here at the court house to a throng that filled the square in front of it.

Governor West introduced Mr. Taft, welcoming him to a state of popular law and popular government, a state where he have the right, but where the judges are so upright and so just that we do not need it and they do not fear it.

Mr. Taft said he hoped to be able to keep his promise about the battleship.

ARBUCKLE ATTACKS RAW SUGAR TARIFF

Declares It Is "Wicked Tax"
For Benefit of Beet
Sugar Interests

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Just before sailing for Europe today John Arbuckle, the sugar refiner and coffee manufacturer, issued a statement strongly attacking the tariff on raw sugar, declaring it to be a "wicked tax" for the benefit of the beet sugar interests.

"I am going abroad to test and recuperate in preparation for the fight to be made in congress at its next session for free sugar. I propose to devote all my time and all my ability and all my strength to the abolition of all import duties on raw sugar, a most wicked tax on a food necessity of all our people. It taxes the man who works for a wage of a dollar a day as much as it taxes an Astor or Mr. Morgan or Mr. Rockefeller. Each cent, or at least needs the same amount of sugar, and they pay, not according to their ability but according to their taxation, reversing an elemental rule of taxation."

"Just look at the figures showing how the prices of refined sugar to the consumer is made up and disregard the abnormal price lately prevailing for sugar."

ELECTRICAL TRUST ORDERED DISSOLVED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—By the sweeping decree entered in the United States circuit court at Toledo today, the backbone of the so-called electrical trust was broken, and in the judgment of Attorney General Wickersham, the government was equipped with precedents of genuine value in its prosecution of commercial combinations forbidden by the Sherman law.

Meeting the government's charges that the trust controlled the electric lamp business of the country, regulating by agreement prices at which all lamps were sold, the decree severs all relationship between the General Electric company and the National Electric Lamp company. The latter concern and all its subsidiaries are ordered dissolved.

The important principle was laid down, according to the attorney general, that once a lamp is sold, by a manufacturer the price at which it is resold by a dealer or jobber must be open to free competition.

The decree was acquiesced in by the defendant companies, and this gives the government the moral certainty that there will be no appeal. After the supreme court's decision in the Standard Oil and Tobacco cases, Mr. Wickersham said, the electrical companies expressed a willingness to withdraw their original answers to the government's petition against them and submit to a decree.

The matter was considered by the department of justice and the attorneys for the defendants through the summer, the decree which was filed today being evolved as satisfactory to the government.

Similar decrees against other combinations are likely to follow shortly, with the acquiescence of the defendant concerns.

The investigation out of which the suit grew, the attorney general said, "disclosed 11 other patent pools, of a similar nature, by which the prices of various electrical devices and supplies were fixed, and to which some of these defendants were parties. But since the institution of this suit all these pools have been voluntarily dissolved."

NO CHANGE IN R. R. SITUATION

VOTES COMING IN FROM EMPLOYEES CONCERNED

Result Known Soon—Federal
Arbitration May Be Invoked, Is Report

Returns received last night from employees of the Short Line, Midland Terminal and Colorado Midland railroads as the joint committee of the R. R. T. and C. R. C. indicate that the union officials will have no alternative but to call a strike in response to the votes of union men.

With the returns, some favorable and others against strike, came suggestions to the union officials that the mountain railroad men would be better prepared to go on strike next spring, that the railroads are handling but little business now, compared with the traffic during the tourist season.

Each of the unions decide to strike this winter, an announcement will be made before the afternoon of probably tomorrow when the last ballots are received from the men involved.

Before the men forsake their positions, the union leaders claim, they will ask that the federal arbitration board, composed of Judge Knapp of Washington, D. C., and Judge Neill of Chicago, visit Colorado and investigate the conditions.

J. H. Waters, general manager of the Short Line railroad, still maintains that he has given the employees the only answer consistent with conditions.

No Change.

The labor committee members say that there is no change in the situation, and that they are still receiving votes of the railroad men.

Separate consideration will be given by the labor officials of the vote of the men on each railroad. But the interests of the employees on all the railroads will be pooled in a common demand, and the committee from the labor organizations will handle the future negotiations with the managements of the Colorado Midland railroad and the two allied Vernalis Creek lines if two-thirds of the employees on each line vote for a strike. If the two-thirds majority is not received on any of the roads, the strike issue will be dropped.

"We can't say anything now," said E. Corbin, representative of the labor men, last night, "for there has been no change in the situation."

Employees of the Florence & Cripple Creek railroad which is under the same management as the Short Line and Midland Terminal, are not being asked to vote on the strike issue, which is taken to indicate that they are satisfied with working conditions, although they receive the same pay as employees on the other lines. The Florence & Cripple Creek railroad employees are union men.

WANTS COSI BOND DEPOSITED

DENVER, Oct. 12.—Willis V. Elliott, attorney for Miss Rose Deahl, who is being sued in the district court by Mrs. Ellen Haer, for $100,000 in an alienation of mind case, has filed a motion for a cost bond. Mr. Elliott declares that Mrs. Haer is unable to pay the costs of the suit she has brought in the event that she loses, and therefore asks the court to compel her to assure payment of the expenses or to dismiss the action.

FIND TWO MORE BODIES

AUSTIN, Pa., Oct. 12.—Two bodies were recovered from the flood wreckage today. This makes the total number of bodies recovered 16 out of 17 supposed to have been missing.

OUTDOOR SLEEPING FACTOR IN TRIAL

Talismen in McNamara Case
Unable to Rest in Closed
Rooms

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 12.—Outdoor sleeping, a fairly common habit in southern California, took the form of a menace last night in the McNamara trial. Eleven tallmen, locked up last night in the newly varnished rooms of the hall of records, reported today that sleep was impossible for those addicted to the outdoor habit, and one of them, Zimri T. Hatt, required medical assistance in the course of the night.

The men face long confinement in the hearing of James E. McNamara on the charge of murder in connection with the explosion and fire which destroyed the Los Angeles Times building, October 1, 1911. Sheriff William Harnett immediately took steps to alter the arrangements, and tonight the tallmen sleep in a roomy, vacant court room, with many windows, across a court from the trial room.

The room designed for sleeping quarters was set aside as an exercise room, and windows in both rooms were kept open.

Even this arrangement is not considered satisfactory, however, nor is the present scheme for providing meals for the tallmen at the restaurant.

BANKER WALSH NOT NAMED IN PAROLE

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Oct. 12.—Hope for John G. Walsh being paroled from the federal prison is dimmer tonight than it has ever been. The list of paroles granted at the last session of the federal parole has arrived and Walsh's name is not on the list. It is understood that some of the men who are to be released rank higher numerically in the order in which applications for parole are considered, than does Walsh.

Attorney General Wickersham, in whose hands Walsh's case now rests, may visit the prison within a week. Many believe the delay in passing on the banker's case is occasioned by Mr. Wickersham's desire to make a personal investigation.

About a dozen prisoners have been ordered paroled when "first friends" vouch for their future conduct. Two of them are former Indiana bank employees, F. H. Nicolai of the City National bank of Auburn, Ind., and J. H. Phillips of the Terre Haute National bank. They probably will not leave the prison before Saturday. Each was sentenced to five years following pleas of guilty to misapplication of bank funds.

The fact that the application of Walsh has not been reported does not necessarily mean unfavorable action.

PROGRESSIVE FARMERS CONTROL COMMITTEE

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 12.—Nineteen delegates held the majority of power in the National Farmers' committee chosen today after a contest. This committee is expected to express the ideas of thousands of farmers in more than 30 states on important political questions.

In his annual address President Strang intimated that President Taft had broken his word with the Farmers' congress in calling a special session of the federal congress to pass the tariff measure.

President Strang suggested that the Farmers' declare against the tariff, some mission.

A woman was the first delegate to register when the registration books were thrown open yesterday morning to the advance guard of the delegates that are coming to Colorado Springs to attend the Sixth International Dry Farming congress, which opens Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

She is Mrs. J. W. McNichols, of Lethbridge, Can., who is here to aid in displaying western Canada's exhibits in the women's department and in the main exhibit.

Second on the list of registrations was Prof. W. H. Olin, of the Idaho state agricultural college. Prof. Olin formerly lived in Colorado, being connected with the state agricultural college for several years. Later, he became commercial agent for the Denver, Laramie and Northwestern railroad. He resigned to take charge of the institute demonstration school for the Idaho agricultural school. Prof. W. G. Carlyle, also a former Colorado man, is with Mr. Olin, the two having charge of the Idaho exhibit.

The part that the women will play in the approaching congress is shown to some extent in the number of fair delegates that are among the early arrivals. It is planned to start work this morning in preparing the women's exhibit.

Prof. S. W. Black and Prof. Marie Woodson, who will be in charge of Oklahoma's display at the congress, are worried over the failure of a carload of exhibits, shipped by them from Oklahoma City, to arrive here on scheduled time. The car was to have been here yesterday.

"In the meantime," said Prof. Black, "we are sitting around with a squad of our assistants, lacking anything to do outside of making the preliminary arrangements in decorating our booths. Trunks were sent along the route yesterday afternoon, but no word was received concerning the just car and Oklahoma's display."

Oklahoma Keenly Interested.
"We consider it a big disappointment," said Mr. Black, "from the fact that we want to make a big showing for Oklahoma this year. The farmers of the state are unusually interested, and we wanted to get on the ground early and have things in shape."

Canada is taking a lead in the arranging of booths for the congress. The Alberta displays are being arranged by a big squad of workers, and are considered the region probably will be the first to have its group of agricultural and horticultural products ready for the inspection of the public.

The interest that will be shown next week in the congress is evidenced by the large number of visitors who went through the long line of tents yesterday, watched the men and women at work and inspected the grain and fruit now being shown.

Verner Z. Reed has offered a handsome silver cup to be awarded by the Dry Farming congress to the largest delegation, outside of Colorado, present at the convention. The cup is 20 inches high and can be seen in the

ROCK ISLAND OFFICIALS TO AID IN DEVELOPMENT

Rock Island officials are coming to Colorado Springs next week, probably Wednesday, to confer with representatives of the Chamber of Commerce and with farmers of eastern Colorado regarding plans for the development of the eastern section of the state.

Among the railroad officials will be: John Selk-star, vice president; L. M. Allen, traffic manager; S. O. Schmidt, J. Kline and George Martin of Denver general agent.

At the meeting the farmers of the eastern section will be asked to tell of their experiences and the kind of farm work that brings them the best results. Representatives of the Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce will be asked to give their advice and ideas of how that portion of the state may be placed on a higher productive basis.

The Rock Island commercial agents are working on a basis that the eastern portion of Colorado should be given over almost entirely to dairy farms and the growing of dry climate grains, such as wheat. Additional experimental farms, with the subject of irrigation given little, if any, consideration, probably will be the result.

If these strictly dry-farmed farms prove a success, the Rock Island railroad will start an advertising campaign telling of the kind of farming that will prove a success and how much farming should be conducted. In connection, inducements will be offered the people to settle on the land, and thus develop the country.

It is up to Colorado Springs to meet the local hills for showing it off, and this can be done only by subscribing as liberally as each one believes he is able to do. More money is being spent in the town and by the exhibitors and delegates than will ever be subscribed here.

nence and prohibition. Protest will be made against national endorsement of brewers and belief will be reaffirmed in the establishment of the proposed international court of arbitral justice.

The principal feature of yesterday morning's session was the election of officers for the ensuing year, and with one exception, all were reelected. Mrs. Reek was elected to succeed Mrs. Hattie M. Doughty of Boulder.

ADMISSION FREE TO FARMING EXPOSITION

There will be no charge for admission to the International Dry Farming Congress exposition. That matter was fully decided last evening at a meeting of the exposition committee.

For a time it was feared that it would be necessary to ask the citizens at least to pay 25 cents admission to help defray expenses. However, a call was sent out asking the people to contribute something, if only a dollar. The response has been quite liberal, and it is believed that enough now will be sent in to the committee so that there will be only a small deficit. The committee will take a risk on that and keep the exposition free. This insures that all school children, farmers and visitors will see the displays without paying.

However, the committee hopes that everyone who can will now make some contribution. It should be sent to J. P. Madgen, county commissioner, who is treasurer of the committee.

There was a largely attended meeting and everyone was convinced that a free show was the thing. There now is being arranged in the tents the most remarkable show of agricultural products that has ever been seen in Colorado. It is coming in by the carload from the various western states and Canada. Last evening they arrived via the Wells Fargo express 18 boxes of materials from Edmonton, Alberta, that was not expected. A car from Oklahoma is expected hourly, and as much more in small lots. Yesterday afternoon a car came in from Oregon. That is the way it is going, and it will be a bigger show than anyone thought possible.

It is up to Colorado Springs to meet the local hills for showing it off, and this can be done only by subscribing as liberally as each one believes he is able to do. More money is being spent in the town and by the exhibitors and delegates than will ever be subscribed here.

DENVER, Oct. 12.—Daniel W. Hingley, aged 59, a Colorado pioneer and mine owner, and a well-known citizen of Denver for the last 28 years, died at 6:30 this morning at his home, 4200 Zuni street, after a lingering illness. Mr. Hingley was the owner of considerable mining property in the Montezuma district, Park county. He was prominent in city politics. Mr. Hingley leaves a wife and three children. The children are: John A. Hingley, Mrs. James S. Black and Mrs. T. J. Elwell, all residing here. The funeral will probably be held next Sunday afternoon, and will be in charge of Highlands Masonic lodge.

Japanese merchants concerned in the manufacture of various goods for sale in markets, particularly merchants at Osaka, have become greatly concerned of late over the fact that their goods have been superseded in markets they formerly had by German goods of better quality and but little higher prices. A committee has been set from Osaka to Chinese ports in the Yangtze valley to investigate the matter.

While the features of the election were busy, three-minute reports were given by superintendents of departments. Miss Christina B. Wilby of Denver spoke on "The Need of Literature." Mrs. W. W. Mrs. Nellie A. Goss, hygienist, "The Principles of a Pure Life." Mrs. Alice B. Disbrow, Denver, "Social Meetings." Mrs. E. W. A. Fleck, Grand Junction, "Our Duty to the Indian."

Afternoon Session.

The afternoon session began with a report of the Colorado Cotters' Home for Unfortunate Girls located in Denver. The discussion was led by Mrs. F. I. Smith, president of the board of managers, and Mrs. D. M. Hayes, financial secretary. Thirty-four girls have been cared for during the last year. The address of the Rev. Eugene St. John, national evangelist on "The White Slave Traffic" stirred every mother heart. Fifty thousand girls have been sold into white slavery during the last 10 years, she said, and New York, Chicago and Denver were named as among the chief distributing points. Cooperation with missionary societies was discussed, with Mrs. Ella Beecher Gittings and Mrs. Ada P. Dix as leaders. An illustration and suggestions were given by Dr. Maude M. Sanders of Denver.

Miss Rose A. Davison, national lecturer and organizer, addressed the convention on "Views From the Mountain Tops," and reported that she had made more than 300 addresses in this state, 80 of them being in high schools. The introduction of fraternal delegates and friends closed the afternoon session. Preceding the address, "A Minority Report," made by Mrs. Antonette A. Hawley, honorary president of the Colorado W. C. T. U., "My Colorado," written by Mrs. J. W. Burt, was sung to the air, "My Maryland," and a demonstration drill, "Encircling the Earth With the White Ribbon," was given by about 30 young men and women under the direction of Miss Winona R. Jewell, branch secretary, Salida.

Upholds Minorities.

By statistics, Mrs. Hawley built up the theory that minorities are the salvation of the world, and not to be lightly considered. In conclusion, Mrs. Hawley declared: "Because of these things, I am forever glad and proud to belong to an unfettered minority—the glorious band of white ribbon insurgents, who, in all their 25 strenuous years, have asked one and the same question, Lord, what wilt thou have me to do?" On this, the closing day of the convention, there will be the report of the resolutions committee and the reports of the department superintendents will be concluded. This afternoon, Mrs. Essie Geddes of Colorado Springs will

DENVER INVESTIGATING GREEK PADRONE CHARGE

Juvenile Court Officer Declares Boot-blacks Are Held Under System of Slavery

DENVER, Oct. 12.—The juvenile court, through its special officer, J. S. Phillips, inaugurated a crusade against the Greek padrone yesterday. About 250 bootblack establishments are concerned in the investigation. One man has been placed under arrest. He is George Vitos, the proprietor of bootblack stand at 337 Fifteenth street. The charge against him is perjury. But he is held to answer the so-called "slavery" accusation.

Vitos is said to be one of many padrones who operate in Denver. These men are alleged to import small boys from Greece. Here the boys are held in what practically amounts to bond in what they are paid for their service. They are obliged to live in filthy quarters. No schooling whatever is ever permitted them.

The Vitos case came to the attention of the authorities about two days ago. Vitos is the partner of one Gus Pulos. Together the two men came to the juvenile court and sought to enter a complaint against John Manopolis, a 15-year-old boy, whom they said they employed. Vitos and Pulos accused the lad of stealing two razors and a pair of shears.

Subsequently, young Manopolis was arrested. And the story he told ultimately resulted in the incarceration of Vitos. The boy was induced to come to this country about a year ago. He landed in New York. And then, he asserts, he was sold to the expenses of his passage. His master brought him to Denver.

Prospectors Flood the Country, Following Reports Made of Finding of Pay Ore

CATTLE ROCK, Colo., Oct. 12.—Reports of mineral discoveries in the foothills between Perry park and Platte mountains, known locally as Devil's Head mountain, have served to revive interest in a locality which has been prospected for 20 years without definite results. In the fall of 1890 there was some excitement over the discovery of a pocket known as Bakken mountain, and a townsite was laid off. Large quantities of float ore were found, but no ore veins were uncovered. Since that time several hundred prospectors have been over the region, but nothing of appreciable value has been unearthed.

W. H. Farrish, a local contractor, has had a group of claims in the locality for several years and has expended over $15,000 on them. There are encouraging signs according to Mr. Farrish, but no ore of pay value has been discovered.

The seat of the latest excitement is on Mount Patter, a name given by prospectors because of the rattlesnakes found there.

Men from Cattle Rock and vicinity have gone to the district from which the extraordinary reports come with the intention of making a thorough examination.

DENVER HIGHWAYMAN WORKS IN DAYTIME

DENVER, Oct. 12.—In less than an hour's time, early this morning, a lone highwayman held up seven persons in and near the business center of the city and attempted to kill Pollock when the officer intercepted him as he ran out of an alley in the rear of the First National Bank building, after exchanging shots with a Pinkerton watchman who tried to capture him.

He is a prisoner in the city jail. He said his name is J. D. Barry, and that he came here Tuesday from Los Angeles where he was employed as a bartender. He declares that he was crazy drunk when he committed the holdups, and Chief Armstrong is inclined to believe his statement because of the daring he displayed and the manner in which he carried out his plans.

The holdups netted him less than $100. A list of the victims follows: Miss Clara Richards and Miss Gladys Searies, Lewis' hotel, 1835 Champa street.

E. R. Holden, 1247 Champa street, and A. B. Jessup, 735 Broadway, held up at Sixteenth and Stout streets.

Attracted by Diamonds

W. H. O'Neal, 2430 California street, held up on California street between Twentieth and Twenty-first streets.

Martin Lacher, linotype operator, held up at Sixteenth and Stout streets.

Roy Bailey, colored, 1334 1/2 Humboldt street, held up on Eighteenth street.

He encountered the two women near their hotel and caught the glint of diamonds on Miss Richards' fingers. He displayed a deputy sheriff's star and began to question them. When they tried to avoid him, he drew a revolver and ordered them to throw up their hands. They ran and succeeded in reaching their hotel, but Barry followed them to their room and broke in the door. He struck Miss Richards on the head with the revolver and knocked her down, but she regained her feet and ran from the room screaming for help.

To avoid capture Barry ran from the building. He committed one holdup after another in such quick succession that the police, with reports of his doings pouring in at headquarters, were dumbfounded. Policemen on the downtown beats scurried back and forth through the alleys, endeavoring to find the highwayman, and officers from outlying districts were ordered in to assist in the search.

Shortly before 3 o'clock a Pinkerton watchman got on his trail and pursued him.

He ran down Sixteenth street and turned into the alley between Champa and Stout streets. The Pinkerton began to overtake him and he opened fire upon him, shooting four times. Pollock, attracted by the shooting, ran to the alley just in time to encounter him. Although Pollock covered him with his gun, he fled, but was captured.

The ecclesiastical celebration will begin at 10:30 a. m. Sunday with a pontifical high mass at the cathedral at which the cardinal will be the celebrant and Archbishop Glennon of St. Louis will preach the sermon.

After the mass the visiting dignitaries will proceed to St. Mary's seminary where a dinner in the cardinal's honor will be served.

The day's celebration will conclude with a solemn vespers service in the evening.

ACTOR SHOWS HEART IS RIGHT

DENVER, Oct. 12.—Henry Miller, star in the three comedies, "The Haven," viewed a new angle of the human triangle in the country juvenile court last Tuesday. This third angle, like the other two, touched the heart of him.

Miller and his leading lady, Miss Laura Hope Crews, dropped into the juvenile court as a lunchbox mother was being separated from two children declared dependent by the court.

The family she has suffered extreme poverty since the death of the father, two years ago. The oldest sister for a time had secured $3 to $4 at factory work, but now she has nothing to do. Mother had the oldest sister were weeping bitterly when the actor and actress entered.

"Judge, I'll stand good for the children," Miller remarked, after hearing the mother's pathetic plea. "I'll support them until the sister can get work."

It is no majority of the electoral vote, for other candidates and the election is thrown into the chamber of deputies, the choice can be known hardly before November 1.

Delegates to the electoral college which seems to have no exact parallel in American political procedure, will gather today and begin work preliminary to the deliberations which will determine what candidates the voters have chosen. Five days may have elapsed before the electoral juntas have completed their business.

TRANSPORTATION EXPENSE RAISES COST OF LIVING

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—The question of transportation determines the character of the poor man's breakfast and the rich man's home," said Gov. H. S. Bradley of Missouri in an address at the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterways association convention here today.

"One-third of the cost of living" is due to the expense of transportation, and thus this question enters as a controlling influence into the success or failure of every single human life.

And these who have the power and the privilege of controlling and conducting the means of transportation, have the power and exercise the privilege of levying tribute upon the labor and the frugality of the people whom they serve.

And experience has shown that this power cannot be safely left to any man or set of men free from the regulation of competition or the superior power of governmental control.

"An annual charge of $175 is levied upon every family in this country for the expense of transportation. It is manifest that the efforts of the state and national government to bring about satisfactory results in the regulation of the rates and the service of railroad transportation have been far from satisfactory.

Rates Still Artificial.

"Railroad rates in this country are still artificial, unequal and lacking in any definite test by which their fairness and reasonableness can be determined. Railroad rates are fixed upon the basis of value rather than upon the cost of the service rendered.

"The necessity of the improvement of our inland waterways for the purposes of transportation is not only necessary and advisable from the standpoint of effective rate regulation, but its necessity has been frequently demonstrated for the purpose of securing the means by which freight can be transported at all.

"The completion of the Panama canal will unquestionably bring about a marked change in the existing conditions both of commerce and of transportation and with the completion of this great project a considerable, if not the greater portion of the surplus products of the Mississippi valley can reach their natural markets more directly and more cheaply through transportation down the inland waterways of the Mississippi and through the Panama canal to the markets of Asia than in any other way.

"The duty of improving the waterways belongs alone to the national government. Water transportation means land reclamation. If the government would perform the duty incident to the exclusive right that it possesses of improving the rivers for the purpose of transportation, much if not all of 20,000,000 acres of fertile land now swamps or impaired by overflows could be made available for the production of a certain annual harvest."

THE DAY'S NEWS IN SPORT CIRCLES

FULLERTON SAYS MACK HAS BETTER TEAM THAN M'GRAW

By HUGH S. FULLERTON.
CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—When generals prepare for battle they usually pay most attention to their weakest points. The coming battle for the championship of the world between the Athletics and Athletics the two victors in the National League are just now trying to bolster up their catching departments.

It is odd in baseball that the moves of a manager may reveal more to an outsider than he wants to tell. For instance, the very first indication that Arthur Devlin, for years the ace of the National League third baseman, was going back was when McGraw began drafting third basemen over the country. In his work against the Cubs Devlin hadn't shown a sign that the slide were under him. McGraw, watching him in a hurry, and a half game, realized that he had seen better days.

To see Mack and McGraw now striving desperately to prepare their catching departments for the coming series indicates that they fear that department more than they do any other. McGraw, of course, is paying attention to pitchers, and so is Mack, but to a lesser degree.

To me, one of the strong advantages of the Athletics over the Giants just now is that Manager Mack has had time to coach his catchers for the season. McGraw, meantime, has been compelled to keep Meyers in action constantly, and according to admissions of the players and the scribes who accompanied them on the final trip, the big Indian feels the strain of the season.

Every baseball expert will admit that catching is the vital point in defensive work, and almost everyone outside of New York will admit when they examined the danger points of the two teams are behind the bat.

Now, in all probability, this will be a series of two pitchers against two catchers, unless Mack decides to use a third, which means Eddie Plank. The fact that the moment New York moved to clinch the pennant in the National League Mack began to groom Plank indicates that he wants the veteran left-hander in shape to pitch.

Therefore, as it now shapes up, the contest, so far as catchers go, is between Meyers for New York and Thomas and Lapp for Philadelphia. And between Plank and Coombs, against McGraw, and Marquard with Ames as a desperate resort.

It is 2 to 1 on catchers and 3 to 2 on pitchers, in favor of the Athletics. To consider the catchers seems to add to the odds against the Athletics. It is not that they are not good, but that they are not as good as the Athletics.

Let us take up the catchers as individuals. Meyers is a Michigan Indian from California, bred and raised in the state, educated in three different schools. He is a man of intelligence, education and refined tastes, rather quiet and with occasional fits of humor. He weighs close to 200, is immensely strong and solid and a man who can stand much physical and mental battering and still remain steady. He is strong, slow, bull-like in motion. He is slow on bases, a backslide to all following batters.

All great hitters are men with powerful arms, especially from the elbow. Thomas and Meyers is of this type. Striving a ball with terrific force. He has been batting this season for in excess of anything he has ever done before—hitting above .300. He only has three home runs in 150 games, which is not nearly as great as his batting average makes it seem.

In defensive work, Meyers is a steady, intelligent and willing worker. The throwing of the Indian is strong, but slightly off directed and slow at the start. He makes few throws except self-defense—that is, he throws when he sees runners going rather than throwing to catch them napping. An Archer and some of the great catchers do. But he is not a weak catcher, and he has developed largely since the season, and especially since the Giants came to the front. He has one weakness. It is a weakness known as the National League, and used against him to great advantage by those who will force the attack. This is that he will drop down to throw to first base, but almost any other catcher in the National League would have done this.

Robbins West Side Football Team Wins
The Robbins West Side Football club has organized a football team which has won both of the games played thus far. A few days ago the team beat the Colorado City High school team, 16 to 0. "Stu" Hall, fullback, was the star of the game. This morning they beat the Columbia team 44 to 0. End runs of G. Hager of the West Side were the feature. The West Siders claim that the Wall Street "Bears," who recently issued a challenge to any team in the city, have refused to play them.

Colorado College freshmen football plays its first out-of-town game at Amar Saturday afternoon. The Amar High school team is one of the best in the state and plays a hard game. The freshmen, with a fairly good line, Kampf at quarter and Chase, Holmes and Emery in the backfield, hope to win.

RIVALS IN THE WORLD'S SERIES

TERRORS HAVE STRONG TEAM TO MEET NORTH DENVER TOMORROW

By IRVIN BRUCE

The High school Terrors are showing the best form they have displayed this season and are putting lots of snap and ginger into their play. The team will go into the first championship field game of the season at Washburn field tomorrow against North Denver prepared to play tip-top football.

Play will be called at 3 o'clock, and as this is the opening league game of the season the Terrors are determined to win. If they lose, the eleven will be out of the running so far as the state championship is concerned.

Every member of the team is in first class condition with the exception of Fowler, who is still feeling the effects of the Mines game. The miners handled the Terrors star quarterback back with undue roughness, and it is doubtful whether he will be able to play tomorrow. In this event Davis will start at quarter.

Coach Coffin will present an entirely new backfield in tomorrow's game. Back of the line will be found Nifong, Lehman, Schockley and either Fowler or Davis. Coffin has been working this combination all week and they have been ripping the scrubs to pieces. They hit the line as though they meant it and make interference for the man carrying the ball. If they play the same kind of football tomorrow, as they have the last few afternoons in practice, North Denver will have a hard time to win.

The High school students have been holding rallies during the week and will attend the game in a body. A rosters' club has been formed and this will be in evidence at the game. Morath and James have been selected to lead the Terrors' supporters in the cheering.

Tomorrow's contest will give the High school followers an opportunity to watch the work of the best line that has represented the school since the time of the "Big Team" that defeated the various college teams in Colorado in the Terror line will be found two men whose equal cannot be found on any High school team in the state. They are Taylor, left end, and Richardson, right tackle. It will take an unusually strong line to keep this pair from breaking through and spilling plays before they are fairly started. After the first quarter Taylor and Richardson tore the Mines line to pieces and played all around their opponents.

Officials for the game have not been selected as yet and it is probable that some of the college players will be selected. Tickets for the game are on sale at the High school, the Russell, Denver Sport store, W. L. Lucas Store and the city ticket office of the Denver & Rio Grande. The Terrors will probably line up as follows: Taylor, left end; Morath, left half; Richardson, right half; Nifong, left tackle; Lehman, right tackle; Schockley, center.

NATIONAL LEAGUE ENDS SEASON; GIANTS BEATEN

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—The pennant struggle in the National League was definitely decided three days ago, but the official close of the championship season did not occur until today. Three games were played, the pennant-winning New Yorks dropping a doubleheader to Brooklyn, and the Chicago team the runners up, losing to Cincinnati. The positions of the eight clubs remain as they were when the battle for the flag was decided.

THOUSANDS UNABLE TO GET SEATS FOR OPENING GAME

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—When the last spectator at the doubleheader between New York and Brooklyn this afternoon left the Polo grounds, the gates were closed, and they will not be reopened until Saturday, when the first game of the opening game of the world's series between New York and Philadelphia begins.

A large crowd will be at work putting the "diamond" in the best possible condition for the opening game. It is estimated that with the completion of a new grandstand, together with the wooden bleachers remaining after the fire of last April, the grounds will accommodate 50,000 persons.

Conditions surrounding the open sale of tickets for the three games scheduled to be played here indicate record-breaking crowds. Two hours after the sale opened today, not a seat was to be had for the opening game, while tickets for the two contests to follow were taken as fast as eager hands could hand over the money at the New York headquarters.

Disappointed applicants for opening day seats, however, were surrounded by speculators who offered the clamorous thousands a variety of tickets at prices which gradually rose from $5 a seat in the forenoon to $15 and $25 in the afternoon. It was evident that, despite all precautions, the speculative fraternity had been able to get hold of many choice sittings.

All members of the New York team are reported to be in good condition, and Manager McGraw expects to put the full strength of his forces in the field against Philadelphia. It seemed to be a question whether Mathewson or Marquard would pitch the opening game. Opinion in some quarters was that if the day was dark, the speedy left-hander would be sent in.

There was a full in betting, with little inclination to play either team as a favorite.

With the exception of Larry Doyle of the Giants and Stuffy McInnes of the Athletics, telegraphic advices from both big-league headquarters last night declared that both McGraw and Mack were in shape to send their strongest teams into the field tomorrow for the opening game of the big series.

Doyle has a bad ankle, which turned on him in Monday's game with Brooklyn, and McInnes is still suffering from a bruised right wrist, the result of being hit by a pitched ball during the last game with Detroit. There is still doubt whether these two stars will be able to play tomorrow.

Betting on the opening game has been light. One of the reasons for this lack of the sports in back their opinions with cash is the inability to dope

GOVERNMENT BIRDMEN SAY TEST FLIGHT A SUCCESS

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 12.—Reporting that their flight, even though it did not last to the previously set destination, was in every way successful, Lieutenant Gordon Ellinson and N. H. Towers, the naval aviators who started for Fortress Monroe yesterday afternoon, returned to the government aviation field this morning.

An overheated bearing in their engine forced them to land at Smith's Point, 75 miles from Annapolis. After taking their plane to pieces and loading it on the decks of the torpedo boat Halley, the aviators left Smith's Point at 2 o'clock this morning. Another attempt to reach the cape will be made with a new engine.

The naval officers were particularly pleased with the success of their experiment to prove that by the use of "shift control," two men taking alternate turns as pilot, they can avoid the fatigue that has limited all flights heretofore. Leaving Annapolis, Lieutenant Ellinson acted as pilot for 20 minutes and then rested for 20 minutes, while Lieutenant Towers did the piloting.

tomorrow's pitchers. Another thing has kept the bettors in the back-ground, they are wondering whether the Athletics have outbitten and out-thumped the Giants, and whether the Giants have outbitten the champions on the bat.

A month ago the Athletics were practically 2 to 1 favorites against the winners of the National League pennant. Then the Giants began their winning spree, and the odds tightened, until today it's even money.

Frank Sawhouse, formerly trainer with the Athletics when they won the American league pennant in 1905, but lost the world's series to the Giants, dropped into The Gazette office last night for the latest dope from the camp of Mack and McGraw. He came down from Denver to umpire the S. R. A. game.

"The Athletics for me," said Sawhouse. "Why? Because they have the better team. The champions are better hitters than the Giants, and they have a better fielding team. Maybe some experts give the Giants a shade in these matters, but they won't be able to steal on Thomas."

"The Athletics' infield is better than the Giants'. McKee probably has it on Melrose in fielding, but the Philadelphia youngster will outbat the New Yorker any day. If McGraw pitches Matty in the opening game, I'd like to see Mack play Topsy Hartsel in the outfield. Hartsel hit thirty all right in the 1905 series and got on in every game. He's a hard man to pitch to and a crackerjack ball player."

"I wouldn't prophesy as to the result of the opening game. If it's played in New York, but I pick the Athletics to win the series."

Comparisons made from any angle, seenaw from the Giants to the Athletics and back again, leaving both teams, so far as the season's performances go, quite evenly matched. Club for club, the opponents are as evenly balanced as any two that ever fought for the world's title. Practically all of the experts agree as to this, and recalling their errors of judgment in picking the Cubs as favorites last October, are inclined to play safe on the present series and declare the outcome to be a matter of "delightful uncertainty."

Bating, according to the opinion of many, will win for the Athletics, just as it did in the Chicago series last year. From this season's records, the Mackmen have a shade on the Giants in the hitting department, the club batting averages for 150 games being: Athletics, .294; and Giants, .271. There is a single point difference in club fielding, with the Athletics .962 and the Giants, .961. The Athletics have six .300 or better hitters; the Giants, three.

Pitching averages are: Marquard, .300; Crandall, .277; Mathewson, .258; Wittke, .253; Ames, .226; Bender, .223; Coombs, .223; Plank, .209; Moran, .208; and Krause, .187.

Scores of players in both leagues, who have seen the Athletics and Giants in action, or played against them, are reluctant to make a definite statement as to which team they believe will win the series. Ty Cobb says it will be the Athletics; Hugh Jennings says the champions lack nerve, and that New York will take the majority of games. Hugh Fullerton, the well-known baseball writer, gives his views in another column of this paper, and selects the Athletics, Charlie Dooin, captain of the Phillies and one of the wisest heads in the game, says it's a toss-up. Many of the National League players naturally look for the Giants to win, basing their opinion on the pitching of Mathewson and Marquard, and the speed of the Giants on the bases.

THE POLICE SITUATION

THE new police ordinance, which is now before the Council, contains at least one provision which ought to prove beneficial—an increase of the Chief's salary from $125 to $150 a month. The City may be lucky enough once in a while to get a satisfactory man for this position for $125 a month, but it certainly cannot expect to keep him any longer than it takes him to find a better job. Even $150 is small enough compensation when we consider the importance and responsibility of the place.

But it is plain that there will be no permanent improvement in the condition of the police force here until there is an end to the perpetual play of politics by the men at its head. That a city of the size and importance of Colorado Springs should continue for nearly three months without a Police Chief merely because the Mayor and the Commissioner are incapable of acting sensibly and patriotically is nothing less than a disgrace. That this condition should prevail at the season when the city is crowded with visitors makes it even worse.

It is more than two years since the present Council assumed office, but until now it has disregarded the provision of the Charter which requires that it "shall, by ordinance, provide for the establishment and maintenance of a Police Department." It has preferred to let the city get along as well as it could with a department organized and conducted under the old law, and it is not surprising that this situation, together with administrative incompetency and political interference has brought about a state of utter demoralization. The condition of the Department under Commissioner Whitaker was bad enough, so bad, in fact, that most people thought it could not be worse, and last spring Mr. Whitaker was accordingly transferred to another department and his place given to Commissioner Himebaugh in the hope of bettering conditions. But this hope has not been realized and the exchange of commissions was merely a step from the fryingpan into the fire.

It is humiliating to admit it, but the truth is that there is only one capable man in the Council and it is scarcely necessary to explain that his name is not Avery, or Himebaugh, or Whitaker, or Frost.

SALARIES OF JUDGES

IN ONE of his recent speeches President Taft spoke of the inadequate salaries paid the Federal judiciary and cordially endorsed the movement to have them increased. This subject has been before Congress for several years but somehow the effort to obtain increases has failed. The Circuit Court judges are paid $7,000 each and those of the District Courts $6,000. The associate justices of the Supreme Court receive $12,500 and the chief justice $500 more. The judges of the English Court receive $50,000 a year each, while the men who preside over other English courts of less dignity and importance than our Circuit Courts are paid from $25,000 to $30,000 a year.

Uncle Sam is a notoriously poor paymaster for the men who serve him in high positions. This is probably because Federal salaries were fixed many years ago when the cost of living was much less than it is now and when the earning capacity of a good set of brains was far below the present standard. It is only within the last two or three years that Congress increased the President's compensation to a figure commensurate with the dignity of the position. From the beginning of the Government until Grant's second term the President received $25,000 a year, which probably was more in that day than twice the sum is now. It is well known that none of the latter presidents was able to save anything on his salary of $50,000, because of the large expense of entertaining which devolves upon him and must be paid from his own purse.

It is said that Mr. Roosevelt actually spent more than his salary every year he spent at the White House, but not all presidents are so extravagant as to possess private fortunes. At last, however, Congress recognized the justice of the demand for larger pay and increased the President's salary to $75,000 a year with an additional allowance of $25,000 for traveling expenses. At the same time Congress increased the salaries of its own members and of the Cabinet officials to a figure which would enable most of them to assume public office without serious pecuniary sacrifice.

Of course it is impossible for a government, whether of nation, state or city, to attempt to compete with private concerns in the payment of salaries. Elihu Root, for instance, is known to have given up a law practice worth anywhere from $100,000 to $200,000 a year to become Secretary of War, and later Secretary of State, at $6,000 a year. Later he again relinquished his practice to enter the Senate at the same figure. Secretary Knox probably could earn in his practice twenty times the sum which he receives from the Government as head of the State Department. Only a few months ago Charles D. Norton withdrew from an insurance business in Chicago which was said to be worth $50,000 a year to accept the comparatively unimportant post of Secretary to the President, which probably pays about $4,000 a year.

It is safe to say that there is not a judge on the Federal bench who could not multiply his income manifold by returning to private practice. It would be obviously unreasonable to expect Congress to base the salaries of such men on their actual earning power in a private capacity, but this certainly is not a reason for going to the other extreme and paying salaries which in some cases are positively niggardly.

OPEN PARLIAMENT

THE POLICE.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
Allow me to say that your editorial in yesterday's Gazette re the Police Department is timely and well grounded and meets with the approval of your readers, especially the women. The general state of nervousness in the average Colorado Springs home when darkness comes on is indeed appalling. It is with a shudder that a majority of women and children go to their beds. The common knowledge that the Police Department is in a disorganized condition adds materially to this state of affairs. Even with a local opinion book that many took delight in breaking, or seeing broken, and which was the bone of contention for two years under a former commissioner, the Police Department was in a better shape than it is now. With the scabious liquor law we now have there ought to be no incentive to break it, although it is rumored there are some infractions thereof.

Perhaps a transfer of commissioners at this time might help matters, and Mayor Avery should be urged to make the transfer. The people are not only asking, but are demanding, that some steps be taken to give us the protection for which we pay. This letter is written to let you know, Mr. Editor, that your efforts to give us protection are appreciated by at least one.

WOMAN STENOGRAPHER.

Colorado Springs, Oct. 12.

A KICK.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
In looking out of my window from the mountain room to the mountains I cannot help but think how much a few three-million-dollar hotels would add to the beauty of the outlook. There is no reason why they should not be here. You can just as well have this city filled up all the year round with people who have money to spend, as to have the two-four-week crowd you do have. It makes me sick to see hundreds of Americans so over to Europe every year to spend their money when there are such good opportunities of spending it here. I have never been over there, but I know every old stump and burn from New Brunswick to San Diego and Vancouver, even been through Kicking Horse Pass. With proper management this place would leave Newport and Saratoga far in the rear as a fashionable resort.

Colorado Springs, Oct. 12.

FROM OTHER PLACES

SUGAR.

From the Philadelphia Inquirer:
Last year during the preserving season sugar sold at 6 1/2 and 6 cents a pound. Today in and around Philadelphia it is selling for 7 and 7 1/2 cents in other places throughout the state it has jumped as high as 8 cents a pound. And the trust arrogantly announces that it will probably be higher before long. Why? That is a question the community has not answered. It is in all probability a question it can't answer to the satisfaction of the man who is forced to pay an increasingly exorbitant price for the commodity. But it is a question it should be compelled to answer and that very quickly.

A CASE OF COMMON SENSE.

President Taft's Detroit speech should convince the public that the supreme court acted with the utmost caution in its interpretation of the anti-trust law; that its availing of the word "reasonable" should be interpreted as "common sense"; that the Sherman law is sound and any enactment that would weaken that which has been demonstrated that it can enforce its requirements is one thing which certain people sought to introduce immediately after the decision of the supreme court on the trust cases applied to have been exercised.

CONTROLLING HYDROPHOBIA IN THE HUMAN SUBJECT

From the Journal of the American Medical Association:
Hydrophobia occurs almost exclusively in the domestic dog, but also to a small extent in a few localities human animals of the dog family and in skunks. Human infection occurs directly from the rabid dog through bites. Rabies is an infectious disease, transmitted by bites of infected animals. It never originates spontaneously or as a result of starvation, and food or water, excitement, fear, or other like causes. "Mutters" from the most diverse parts of the world show that rabies is not confined to and not even markedly prevalent during any particular season of the year. It may flourish at any season. Under the present conditions of commerce and travel the United States physical barriers are insufficient to prevent the introduction of rabies into any state or territory. Animals may be suffering from rabies and their saliva may be virulent for some days, before symptoms become sufficiently marked to excite notice. Dogs suffering from furious rabies often have a tendency to run long distances, 25 miles or more being reported, often inoculating large numbers of other animals and persons en route, and carrying infection into previously uninfected regions. Animals killed early in the course of rabies may fall to show unmistakable evidence of the disease on microscopic examination, and in this manner the diagnosis may be indefinitely delayed pending the result of inoculation tests. By means of the Pasteur treatment, promptly administered, immunity may be produced in exposed persons so that a mortality of no more than 1 per cent may be expected from rabid dogs of the average severity. These are the most important conclusions of Dr. A. M. Himmson of the United States health and marine-hospital service, who makes a lengthy report on the subject in a recent number of the Journal.

Dr. Himmson makes the following recommendations for the control of this awful disease: Destruction of ownerless dogs; imposition of license fee on all dogs, which should be sufficiently large to reduce the number of dogs kept. Dog owners should be held legally responsible for damage inflicted by their dogs. The dog-owning public should be educated in matters relating to the care of dogs as affecting the spread of communicable diseases, especially rabies. There should be a system of reliable information concerning the presence of rabies in all portions of the state territory. This disease should be made reportable, as should also suspected cases, and penalties imposed for noncompliance. State or territorial quarantine against importation of dogs should be established. A measure obviously to be adopted only after a consideration of internal conditions and interstate relations.

There are now some twenty institutions in the United States where the virus for the Pasteur treatment or one of its modifications is prepared and administered. Some are under private management and others are under state or municipal control. The public health and marine-hospital service through the Hygienic Laboratory, Washington, D. C., is prepared to furnish, gratis on request, glycerinated virus to state health authorities having the necessary laboratory facilities. Each state and territory should establish a central office for the control of rabies.

Sunflower Philosophy

Another hope is gone to pieces, another "flon" was a sheep, and where he stood a spot of grass is well may the sports wring hands and weep! The white man's feet are growing colder, he cannot find a "chump" that wins, and over the sea the swarthy holder of Jeffries' laurels widely grins. This thing is true—and all men know it—the "flon" "phenoms" are things to scorn, you cannot make a pun or poet—such birds as these are simply born. When Morris heard of how the dinge in a few short rounds brought Jeffries' grief, he quit his work as a prize fighter, and thought because he had some beef that he could back the bacon and make our hearts with gladness as he sits brooding on the dump. And here there are some fruitful morals, if any wise man for them digs; so many men go after laurels who should be busy feeding pigs.

THE DAILY CHAT

"Someone has said 'thinking' is just what nobody wishes to do. These words hold the explanation of the inefficiency and mediocrity of human existence, for truth never comes to men without ever performing this function."

How often do you think? —Doña Melegari.

"What a ridiculous question, you say. 'Why, all the time, of course.' But do you?"

I know you don't. And before you are so cocksure that you do, please let me define what I mean by thinking.

One who defines still, I'll let some one else define for me. I am entirely convinced," says Arnold Bennett, "that what is more than anything else lacking in the life of the average, well-intentioned man of today is the reflective mood. We do not reflect. I mean, we do not reflect upon genuinely important things, upon the direction in which we are going; upon what life is giving us; upon the effort which reason has in determining our actions; and upon the relation between our principle and our conduct."

Now that's the kind of thinking I mean. And how much of it do you do?"

You sit in a trolley car—by 'you' I mean you and your next door neighbor—and I all rolled into one, in the "average person" and you look out the window and think. You are while you are getting spattered with mud and you think you must have your mind roused idly to a new track you are going to have made and a letter you must write to your dreammaker, and then you think how warm it is for this time of year, and wonder if it's that which makes you so sleepy, or because you sat up rather late than usual to play cards, and you wonder what time so-and-so got home.

But that isn't thinking any more than idly nudging your hands in the water is rowing, or will propel your boat to any definite destination.

Of course, one must risk on one's "some of the time, but on the other hand one must not occasionally if one wants to get anywhere."

And the men and women who do get somewhere in this world are the men and women who do sit to, and row some of the time in lead of a practically drifting, the men and women who do think occasionally instead of dreaming all the time.

Support the next time you are sitting in a trolley car with half an hour in which to dream you try thinking instead.

Concentrate on some important task you have to write and think out just what you are going to say.

Think over some big public question, such as woman's suffrage or prohibition, or the need of more stringent divorce laws, or the race, and marshal all the arguments for and against.

Ready the editorial you are to write. Decide which are your own and which are past and why.

Or, best of all, reflect upon some genuinely important thing—upon the direction in which you are going upon what life is giving you.

Of course, as Mr. Bennett warns us, "you will not have gone 10 yards before your mind has skipped away under your very eyes and is lurking around the corner with another subject."

But if it does, to quote once more, bring it back by the scruff of the neck. Bring it back 40 times, if necessary.

Disease and Its Cure

By EDY WOLFF.

MEINGITIS

There are several forms of meningitis, some not so serious as others but this article should be read carefully for at the first suspicion of this dreadful disease a doctor should be summoned at once. It is essential to those in charge of children that they be able to recognize the symptoms as soon as they appear.

The brain and the spinal cord are enveloped in tissues called meninges. The medical term for them is "meninges," hence the name of the disease. When these "meninges" or membranes become inflamed, the abnormal condition is likely to spread to the enveloped brain or spinal cord. When this happens the case becomes serious at once.

Cerebral meningitis occurs in people of all ages, though most often found in children. It is caused by the bacillus or germ of consumption, and as a rule this form of meningitis is the consequence of some other form of consumption—of the lungs, for example.

Another form of cerebral meningitis—cerebral means of the brain—manifests itself as a complication of smallpox, typhoid fever, scarlatina and other ailments.

All cases of cerebral meningitis are accompanied by spasms and a fierce tightening of the muscles of the neck and back, so that the body is sometimes highly arched as a result.

Cerebral meningitis, when not a complication of other diseases, manifests itself by a period of ill-health, peevishness, complete change of disposition and irritability. Then it sets in suddenly with convulsions or with headache, vomiting and fever.

There are few recoveries in either form of cerebral meningitis. Death is the rule, in both old and young patients.

Epidemic meningitis, also called epidemic cerebrospinal meningitis, is caused by a particular kind of germ. The disease is encountered most frequently in winter and spring. Once a case of epidemic meningitis takes its hold in a community, case after case follows with alarming rapidity.

The transmitting agent of the germ is not known. Some able scientists deny that it is carried from one to another by human beings as in the case of diphtheria or scarlatina.

Others declare that the moving agent is an animal of some sort. Others again favor the belief that the germ travels in the water supply or in the food. Whatever the cause, careful isolation and the boiling of all drinking water for 20 minutes is a reasonable and simple safeguard.

It has been stated that a sombre and depressed state of mind is most conducive to fatal results and that for this reason the mortality rate is greater among the poor and the ill-provided.

This is probably true, for diseases of all kinds are more fatal among classes that are ill-fed, and therefore, ill-prepared to resist attack from sickness of any kind. In cases of death from illness, the weaker will always go first.

When a child displays symptoms of complete change of character, with a comparatively short time, it does not mean always that meningitis is present. It may mean that.

If there is any doubt the cheapest plan is to call in a doctor.

THESE ARE THE THINGS ORGANIZED CHARITY IS PUTTING AN END TO

Jacob D. Ellis in Scribner's.

Begging was becoming an organized business. Charity organized in its own defense. "In New York it was a wise woman who spoke the word. To the clear head and tender heart of Josephine Shaw Lowell her city will owe a debt of gratitude all its days. Upon her initiative the Charity Organization Society was founded in 1882, to prevent the overlapping of relief, and to promote the general welfare of the poor by social and sanitary reforms."

A single year's registration of 3,420 families that were tapping different relief sources discovered an able-bodied man hiding in three-fifths of them, hundreds living in plenty on the contributions of whole strings of societies, each of them believing the family its own particular charge. My back aches yet when I think of the Christmas eve when I made to an old woman who lived alone in a hut at what is now the Ninth street entrance to Prospect park, and was reputed to be very poor. I totted up the long slope with a sack of provisions, to encounter at her door an emissary of the St. Vincent de Paul society, similarly burdened. Our complaining notes did not help our backs, for we carried the things back where they had come from, but it resulted in the discovery that the woman had a son who was a prosperous and successful man. And there are many such. Several winters after that I contracted a habit of contributing a nickel on my way home from the office to another old creature who sat in Chat-ham Square churning a wretched pocket edition of a hand-organ while she rocked a baby in her lap. It was always midnight when I came that way, and the baby appeared to me tremendously—especially when it howled and the old woman babbled—until one night, as I dropped my nickel in her cup, the old woman lurched in the very act of mauling her blessing upon me, and dropped the baby on the pavement. I picked it up, horrified, to find that it was a rag doll.

Rhody Wallace, manager of the Browns, expects to land his club as high as the top of the second division. He is regarded as a very near thing. Wallace claims that he has picked up a number of most promising recruits. He seems especially delighted with the all-around work of Flat Ratton Kutina, Shortstop Hallman and Outfielder Compton.

Many of Calderon's plays were of a religious character and in many ways resemble the mystery plays of the middle ages. At these plays there are no now extant. Of the religious dramas there are about 120 surviving, of which the most known are El Alcaide de Zamora, "The Prisoner of Zamora," and El Principe de Gales, "The Prince of Wales."

Calderon was born in Madrid, and in the early part of the year 1800. He was given a liberal education because his father was a man of considerable learning, and an employee in the department of the treasury in his country. He was educated at the Jesuit college in his home city and tradition has it that, like Cervantes, he studied for a time in Salamanca. Calderon was only little more than a dozen of years old when he wrote his first play. From this on until he attained the age of 22, when he won the prize in a poetical contest which called forth warm praise from no less a literary man than his fellow author, de Vega, he kept his pen constantly employed.

Calderon, like other of his countrymen, was compelled to spend 10 years of military service in Italy and Flanders, but even so engaged, he pursued his literary work constantly, and considerable of his most appreciated work was accomplished when he was a soldier. But in 1833 he was again back in Madrid writing for the stage, and in recognition of his great addition to Spanish literature two years later he was promoted to the rank of lieutenant.

In 1846 he was compelled again to relinquish his pen and take up his sword in order to join his fellow knights in a campaign against the Catalan rebels.

In order to heat more time upon the work nearest his heart, in 1861 Calderon followed the example of Lope de Vega and entered the priesthood. He became successively chaplain at Toledo, bishop of Segovia, and Philip IV, and superior of the Brotherhood of San Pedro in Madrid. In spite of his having taken holy orders, he continued to write for the stage. In fact he was obliged to confide to his literary work until his death on May 6, 1881. His friend, de Vega, wrote of him: "He died, as they say the swan does," singing.

In literature Calderon is a figure of the past, but his plays are of the present. He is regarded as the greatest of Spanish dramatists. He is regarded as the greatest of Spanish dramatists. He is regarded as the greatest of Spanish dramatists.

Seven Great Literary Workers

History has always attached much importance to the Number Seven. "Of all numbers there is one which commanded, in a higher degree, the esteem and reverence of mankind." The Gazette has taken this charmed number, and has woven into stories on a variety of subjects a Series of Sevens, beginning each Monday and continuing during the week.

No. 5 CALDERON

Next to Lope de Vega, Don Pedro Calderon was the most productive, the most energetic and the most versatile of the writers of Spain. In fact he was the most typical national Spanish writer of his century. Work, with Calderon, was a second nature, and it remained so from the time he was a mere boy until he died at the extreme age of 80.

Calderon was born in Madrid, and in the early part of the year 1800. He was given a liberal education because his father was a man of considerable learning, and an employee in the department of the treasury in his country. ## At The Theater

"POLLY OF THE CIRCUS"

Women whose lives have been spent in the whetstone atmosphere of a comfortable home cannot realize, and perhaps never will, the life of those who are known as "the women of the circus." Around them and their being hangs a veil of mystery, which, unlike that of the stage, has never been lifted for the gaze of the curious multitude. Outside of the glimpse caught of them in the passing parade through town and city, and the applauding of their feats under the white tent, what do we know of them? Not as much as we know from reading the lectures on the women of far off Asia. To us they seem a race almost as alien as the gypsies, and we are apt to dismiss them with that familiar phrase "women of the circus."

Who appears at the Opera house Monday night only in Campbell Casad's song farce, "Don't Lie to Your Wife."

never knowing or caring that they too are creatures of feeling and possess the attributes associated with the woman of ease and breeding, although living in an environment, generally considered nonconducive of high ideals, developing to a high degree all that is best in womanhood. Among them spring into existence sweet flowers of femininity sometimes rivaling in mental and physical fragrance their sisters—offspring of luxury's conservatory.

Always a devotee from boyhood up of the "tambourine ring," Frederick Thompson, "the wizard of Luna Park," for years had in his mind the skeleton of a play which dealt with this subject. Meeting Margaret Mayo, the dramatist, he told her of his ideas and she wrote for him "Polly of the Circus," with Miss Ida St. Leon in the title role, which comes to this city tomorrow matinee and night at the Opera house, with the indorsement of New York's critical theatergoing public, and deals with the life of a public and flower of the ring whose sweet little life while performing on the boards and his friend to bring the child up, and who, despite their hard lives, know that out beyond their ken is a life of better things, and for which they strive to give Polly. Finally, after she has been hurt while performing in a small town and she has been taken to the rectory, the two make up their minds that this is the first step in the right direction for Polly's future, and that she is something apart from the life of paper hoops and painted clowns and must be given every chance to attain the splendor which they plan shall come into her life. How they did and Polly's joys and sorrows in her new life form the theme of the beautiful play which the theatergoers young and old, of Colorado Springs, should not fail to see. Mr. Thompson has carefully selected a strong cast of capable players and the scenic production is very elaborate.

The night prices are 50c, 75c, $1.00, $1.50. Matinee, 25c, 50c, 75c, $1.00.

"DON'T LIE TO YOUR WIFE"

W. L. E. SPATE

"Don't Lie to Your Wife," a song farce in three acts by Campbell D. Casad, and produced by Rowland and Clifford, is a bright exploitation of the difficulties of a trio of happy men, who slip from the straight and narrow path. The play is full of laughable situations, for they bear upon real human nature offerings that the author came across during his career as a New York Herald newspaperman. The movement of the play is accelerated by a perpetual fire of encephalic dialogue. Dave Lewis, the joy-producer of original comedy, is starred in the piece, and the supporting company includes Miriam Shelby, Edna Roland, Gladys Wilcox, Virginia Stewart, Lillian Stanley, Estelle Vernon, Lenore Frier, Sam Rose, Holworth Stark, Harry Ellis, Benton Garvin, Mark Franklin and Edward Spencer.

"Don't Lie to Your Wife" appears at the Opera house Monday night only in Campbell Casad's song farce, "Don't Lie to Your Wife."

"OLIVER TWIST TONIGHT"

A dramatization of Charles Dickens' famous novel, "Oliver Twist," will be played by the Lorch Stock company at the Opera house tonight for the last time in this city. The opportunities of seeing this old classic are rare these days and the Lorch production has met with the approval of the many theatergoers of this city. Seats may be reserved at the regular Lorch scale of prices.

"Oliver Twist" tells a story of life among the thieves of London. Oliver Twist is a foundling. His parents are

The phrase, "matinee idol" was originally coined by a witty New York newspaperman to describe the furore of the actor, who was first appeared as leading man with the famous 1st Street Theater, New York, 18 years ago.

Mr. Bell, by the way, will appear here at the Opera house, Monday evening, October 23, in his present grand success, "The Mollusc," a very funny comedy by Hubert Henry Davies, who is also the author of "A Single Man" and "Cousin Kate."

MIRTH AND MELODY ON "JESSIE" AND

Mirth and melody, especially mirth, are on the Majestic menu for the week opening tomorrow afternoon, and the new bill may be put down in advance as one of the best vaudeville offerings in months. Heading the list are Heeley and Meeley, "the two lucky tramps," and the Bell Boy Trio, both comedy acts that are full to the brim with merrymaking stuff.

Heeley and Meeley have been starring on the continent for the past five years, and the Sullivan & Considine people that several other circuits to it in finally landing them for a tour of this country, the success of which has been unqualified. Their comedy eccentricities are something entirely off the beaten track, and are enough to "make" any bill.

The Bell Boy Trio is composed of three of the liveliest gamins that ever broke into vaudeville. They are thoroughly equipped with everything that makes the laugh come, particularly with songs and patter. Also they dance a bit and frolic around in most unorthodox ways. Their act is original, and it is new in vaudeville, so it goes without saying that it is to be one of the week's big features.

Something else new is the feminine impersonating specialty of Herbert Charles, late of "The Substitute" company. As a woman, he is a scream.

Ingham's players, in the clever comedy sketch, "The Duchess," Probst, the marvelous imitator of birds; Randow Brothers, the eccentric acrobatic comedians; "The Derelict," a new Rex play; two other motion picture dramas, one a comedy, and the concert orchestra program.

There is not a dull moment in the entire hour and a half, and the entertainment throughout is high-class, with a diversity of wide enough range to cater to every taste. Don't miss the last chance to see this bill.

WERRENRATH, SOLOIST AT WILSON GUILD'S CHURCH

When Reinald Werrenrath, the baritone, who is to appear in the Musical club's Supplementary course of recitals this winter, left Colorado Springs after his summer in the mountains, he went to take the position of soloist in the church at Irvington-on-the-Hudson, known as Helen Gould's church.

For several years Mr. Werrenrath has been soloist at the Madison Avenue Methodist church, in New York city, but within the past year resigned his position, thinking to devote himself to concert engagements exclusively. It has taken this offer from the Irvington church, with such a salary, as will make it possible for Mr. Werrenrath to forego most of the concert offers, which will interfere with the church singing, to get him back into this work. When he undertakes his western tour, which is to reach this city, he will be put to some trouble to find a substitute who will be acceptable to the critical audience of the church.

Mr. H. Howard Brown, who has been in New York for some weeks, giving a special course of lessons, has written that he has heard Mr. Werrenrath sing while there, and that he sings very well, has a good voice and is sure to delight his hearers.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—Reorganization of the Three Eye Baseball league was expected to be perfected at the meeting of members of the league here today.

MIRTH AND MELODY ON "JESSIE" AND

Mirth and melody, especially mirth, are on the Majestic menu for the week opening tomorrow afternoon, and the new bill may be put down in advance as one of the best vaudeville offerings in months. Heading the list are Heeley and Meeley, "the two lucky tramps," and the Bell Boy Trio, both comedy acts that are full to the brim with merrymaking stuff.

Heeley and Meeley have been starring on the continent for the past five years, and the Sullivan & Considine people that several other circuits to it in finally landing them for a tour of this country, the success of which has been unqualified. Their comedy eccentricities are something entirely off the beaten track, and are enough to "make" any bill.

The Bell Boy Trio is composed of three of the liveliest gamins that ever broke into vaudeville. They are thoroughly equipped with everything that makes the laugh come, particularly with songs and patter. Also they dance a bit and frolic around in most unorthodox ways. Their act is original, and it is new in vaudeville, so it goes without saying that it is to be one of the week's big features.

Something else new is the feminine impersonating specialty of Herbert Charles, late of "The Substitute" company. As a woman, he is a scream.

Y. M. C. A. Notes

The meeting for men next Sunday afternoon will be addressed by the Rev. W. W. Ranney, pastor of the First Congregational church. Miss Thomas and Mr. Bybee will sing a duet.

The Employed Boys Bible class was organized last Wednesday night with 14 members. The principal object of the class is to develop teachers for Bible classes.

Enrollment is beginning in the educational classes. The courses are good and complete throughout and competent teachers will have charge. The following subject will be taught: Commercial arithmetic, bookkeeping, business law, common school branches, penmanship, short hand and typewriting.

If elaborate preparations count for anything the High school student reception in the association building tonight will be one of the big events of the season. Music will be furnished by the Y. M. C. A. orchestra. Class contests, a gymnasium exhibition and three-minute talks by members of the faculty on topics of interest to the students body will be features of the program.

Use Gold Dust Instead of Soap

You really don't need soap in the house, except for toilet and bath, and possibly a little for your fine laces and lingerie. With Gold Dust—the all round cleanser—you can do all your household cleaning more quickly—easily, economically than you can with soap or any other cleanser.

Gold Dust does the work better. Soap only cleans off the surface. Gold Dust goes into every corner cleaning and purifying—driving out the germs as well as the dirt. Best of all, you don't need any elbow grease with Gold Dust—it does the work itself.

News of Local Courts

Sherman Holbrook was arrested yesterday on a warrant from Justice Dunnington's court charged with non-support. He will be given a hearing at 10 o'clock this morning.

A jury in the district court yesterday decided the case of Robert Tate against C. A. Pollen, returning a verdict of $35 in favor of the defendant. Tate sued for money alleged to be due him on a building contract and Pollen entered a counter suit claiming that the work was not completed according to contract.

Mrs. Grace Griswold was granted a divorce from Archie E. Griswold in the district court yesterday on the ground of cruelty. The case was not contested. As was expected in a former trial of the case, the testimony yesterday was self-incriminating. The couple were married in Goodland, Kan., in 1902. At the former trial the jury disagreed.

SHE HAD CONSTANT

Until Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Dewittville, N.Y. — "Before I started to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I suffered nearly all the time with backaches, headaches, and bearing down pains and had a continuous pain in my left leg. It made me feel as if I tried to walk much, and my back was so weak that I was obliged to use crutches all the time. But now I do not have any of these troubles. I have a fine skin, baby daughter now, which I did not have before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound." — J. E. A. GILLES, R. 1, 44, Dewittville, N.Y.

The above is only one of the thousands of grateful letters which are constantly being received by the Pinkham Medicine Company of Lowell, Mass. It is a true story of a woman who has been cured of her troubles by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Robinson starts today

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 12. — Under probable clear skies, a trip to the Robinson tomorrow morning will start on his hydro-aer, same trip to New Orleans. The court today in the Mississippi river, is 1,912 miles long. Robinson expects to establish a long-distance flying record.

Through Service,
St. Louis to Coast,
D. & R. G. Mo. Pac.

DENVER, Oct. 12. — Through traffic from St. Louis and the east to Pacific coast points over the Missouri Pacific to Pueblo and thence westward over the Rio Grande and Western Pacific is being discussed at a conference in Denver of officials representing the three roads.

It has been decided definitely that this through traffic will be inaugurated beginning some time early in November the exact date to be determined by a further conference of the officials. At tomorrow's meeting changes in passenger train schedules also will be discussed and determined upon, in order that as close connections as possible may be made between the Missouri Pacific and Rio Grande passenger trains at Pueblo.

The Republican tomorrow will say: "It is intimated by local railroad men who have studied the conditions and who are in a position to figure out the probabilities that the present arrangement for the through traffic from St. Louis to the Missouri Pacific is planning to combine the forces of the Gould roads, that he is seeing to it that the integral parts are so assembled that they will work together as a perfect whole. In anticipation of the time when he will be acknowledged head of the entire system, instead of being at the head of only one part."

In other words these men say, President Bush is the actual power behind the management of the Missouri Pacific, the Rio Grande and the Western Pacific roads.

At the meeting in Denver, yesterday, Vice President E. J. Pearson of the Missouri Pacific, with headquarters in St. Louis, presided. Others present were Secretary, Vice President and General Manager C. M. Levy of the Western Pacific, with headquarters at San Francisco; J. M. Johnson of St. Louis, vice president in charge of the traffic of the Missouri Pacific, with headquarters at St. Louis; C. L. Stone and E. M. Wherry, both of Kansas City, freight and passenger managers of the Missouri Pacific; E. L. Lomas, of San Francisco, general traffic manager of the Western Pacific, and Assistant General Manager W. S. Martin; General Passenger Agent F. A. Wadleigh and General Traffic Manager Andrew S. Hughes, all of the Rio Grande.

Two Boys in Confession Say That R. Holmberg Did Killing Near Portland Last June

HELD FOR HILL MURDERS

THE DALLES, Ore., Oct. 12. — Richard Holmberg was arrested here today charged with the murder of the four members of the Hill family at Ardenwald, near Portland last June. The arrest was made on the alleged confession of two young men, Harry Howard and James Hawkins, who were trapped with Holmberg last summer. The boys say they accompanied Holmberg to the Hill home for the purpose of robbery and they remained outside while Holmberg entered the home and committed the crime.

Since that time they declared he had not allowed either youth to leave him, threatening murder if they spoke of deserting him. The two young men, aged 18 and 17 years, were arrested last night by John Kindt, a rancher near here, while they and Holmberg were alleged to have been stealing potatoes. Holmberg, escaping, the boys told their stories to the sheriff and he at once began a search for Holmberg, running him down today. Holmberg refuses to talk.

Sensational Charge
Made by Dr. B. C. Hyde

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 12. — An affidavit signed by Dr. B. C. Hyde, in which he charged that Deputy County Marshal Harry C. Hoffman told him that for $1,500 he could hang the jury in the first Hyde trial and for $2,000 could secure acquittal was introduced at the hearing of Hyde's application for errors here today.

In the affidavit Hyde said the offer was made May 4, 1911, while Hoffman was conducting him from the jail in the county room. Hoffman he said, told him to say nothing to his attorneys about it, but to leave the matter to him. Hoffman, he said, however, told his attorneys all about it, and they at the time, he said, advised him to keep the offer quiet.

Later this afternoon an affidavit sworn to by Hoffman, the deputy accused by Dr. Hyde, was introduced by an assistant prosecuting attorney, denying at length any conversation with the physician wherein he said he could hang the jury for $1,500. Affidavits were also introduced in which County Marshal Hayes and Claude Meyer, his son, a deputy, making general denial of the affidavits filed by the defense.

The outbreak followed the discharge of a score of strikers when they were told off by the sheriff and the of fun is apt to lead laborious explanation, and the moment one begins to explain a joke the fun vanishes, while the end of an elaborate exposition is because a bore and a stupid affair.

In Europe the pun is, as a rule, a poor form of wit, though, of course, it shows an acute insight. In Japan the play of words is a thing in the Japanese language, far too subtle and significant to be called a pun—not only makes for wit and humor, but carries subtleties of poetic meaning unknown in other tongues. No translation can even make intelligible the full significance of a Japanese poem; there is an interplay of meanings and a use of words involving a literary allusion and association that utterly defy reproduction and a mere verbatim of a few lines will carry more curiously and beautifully interwoven meanings than is to be compressed into European poem four times as long.

For many reasons it is inevitable that a vast deal of humor is lost to the foreigner unacquainted with Japanese language and literature. But there is a great deal more which is as readily comprehensible to a foreigner as that of his own countrymen. There are two Japanese comic papers, both very popular—the Kokkei Shimbun, wholly and entirely Japanese in character, and the Tokyo Puck, which, as its name suggests, has a largely Europeanized outlook. The Kokkei Shimbun is, however, set aside, for its fun is so completely Japanese that explanations would be tedious and carry it to evaporate entirely. As a small instance, it may be mentioned that many Japanese written characters are compounded of two or more others, each having a wholly different meaning; and a great deal of shrewd fun arises and many sharp hits at current events are made out of the association of these incongruous meanings of the written characters. Even in the Tokyo Puck, the best of the fun is apt to be in the purely native jokes and is, therefore, lost to the foreigner unacquainted with Japanese language and literature.
